FOREIGN NEWS!

By the arrival on Saturday last of the clipper ship Morning Star, Capt. Foster, in seventeen days from San Francisco, en route for Hongkong, we have received daily papers from the former city to Aug 27th, embracing telegraph news from the East of the same date, but with no expert at hand to report them they reach or four days later than dates brought per Speedwell. the public in confused, broken fragments, out of their European dates to Aug. 15th (telegr).

The uncertainty and contradictions in which the telegraph invariably envelops the military movements of the contending armies in the United States, always require some time for clearing up. We know now that McCiellan's army had entirely evacuated the York Peninsula and been removed to Alexandria and the south bank of the Potomac, in order to act in conjunction with Pope's army. The latter, being at our latest previous dates on the south side of the Rapidan river, commenced retreating on the 19th ult., closely followed by the rebel Generals Jackson and Lee.

While the left of Pope's army remained at Fredericksburg, his right was thus thrown back across the Rappahannock, to Warrenton Junction, 14 miles south of Manassas, in which neighborhood the telegraph tells us that the Federal army will make a stand, being now within easy supporting distance of McClellan's army, which was fast reorganizing and filling up with new regiments. The retreat, however, had not been eff cted without some severe skirmishes, in one of which the rebels are said to have had 2,000 men cut off in an am bush, and in another the rebels had seized Pope's baggage train, at Cattlet's Station, three miles north of Warrenton. Lower down the Rappahannock, towards Frederiksburg, a contraband and a cavalry scout report a skirmish on the 23d, at Bennet's Ford, in which the rebels were caught between two fires, and lost 16 guns, and the river was said to have "run red with rebel blood." The result, however, of the movement in Virginia seem to be that Pope's right had, up to the 24th August, been pushed back as far as, or beyond Warrenton, while the left still held its ground around Fredericksburg; and that by this flank maneuvre, Jackson had been enabled to afford some comparatively safe secess to himself of thousands who were said to be leaving Maryland for Virginia-emboldened to that move probably by the approach of Jackson. From the 24th to the 27th, no intelligence had been published of whereabout or movements of the armies in Virginia; the New York Times of the 27th simply says : " The | is understood to have said that the crisis is past and the general feeling over public affairs is decidedly more point of danger turned." This may seem sanguine afhopeful than for some time past. The President is understood to have said that the "crisis is past, and the President and the Cabinet have the information of point of danger turned." What that "crisis" and which we are in ignorance, and that from their point of that "point of danger" may have been, we are left to surmise, unless it was feared that Jackson might have arrived at Washington before McClellan.

ginia may be, we have no means of knowing. In Tennessee it seems that the rebels are meeting with considerable success, and have gained possession of the valley of the Cumberland river. We make the following extracts from the Alla and

PHILADELPHIA, August 25 .- The Bulletin has information from a gentleman who left the Rappahannock yesterday morning, that our troops had frequent skirmishes with the rebels while fulling back from the Rapidan. The losses are not serious. Gen. Pope holds the railroad bridges. We hold two commanding positions opposite the Rappahannock which the rebels assai several times. Our tro ps, who are distributed ale the river, resisted all the assaults. They will be able maintain their position at the Junction till the oth army corps enable them to assume the offensive. I rebels are endeavoring to turn our right at its rear way of Warrenton. WASHINGTON, August 25th .- The recent expulsi of newspaper correspondents from the army in V ginia, and the order of Government forbidding transmission of intelligence from that quarter by te graph, has rendered the collection of reliable news tremely difficult and almost useless. Skirmishing been going on to a greater or less extent during the p three days, during which several attempts have be made by the rebels to cross the river, but every ti they were repulsed.

New York, August 25th.—A Rappahannock let says that on the morning of the 21st the enemy open a battery on our center and continued to throw s and shell vigorously for several hours. A little high up it was discovered that the enemy had during night erected a bridge over the river. At this point brilliant affair is reported to have taken place. In vicinity of this bridge was one of Sigel's batteries, which the rebels opened their fire, to which for a ti our battery ceased to reply, having been apparent withdrawn. Three reb-l regiments rushed across bridge, and no sooner had they crossed than Sigel's battery opened on the bridge, and the fourth shot completely demolished it, at the same time a deadly fire of musketry assailed the rebels in front. Their retreat was cut off, and nearly 2,000 are said to have been captured. About four hundred were killed and wounded. The enemy having failed in this strove to outflank Sigel, by crossing at French Ford, but reinforcements were ordered up, and the enemy were repulsed.

Washington, August 26 .- Passengers from Virginia to-day, report an engagement at Warrenton yesterday, in which our forces were successful, driving the enemy out of the town. We are still holding it at the latest advices. The rebel forces engaged were mainly cavalry.

New York, Aug. 26th,-The Tribune's correspondent says: In the rebels' attack on Cattle's Station, $4000 belonging to the Quartermaster's Department were taken. A Captain in the Burnell Legion, who was lying hid in a house near the railroad track, heard Gen. Stewart give positive orders to spare McDowell's baggage train, but to seize Pope's and destroy whatever was not of public importance, and the order was implicitly obeyed, although McDowell's wagons were close

The Fredericksburg correspondence of the Tribune, dated Sunday the 24th, says: Musketry firing was heard this morning. A contraband came in yesterday, and reports that our troops were whipping the rebels, and that we had captured 13 guns.

A cavalry scout came in last night and confirms the report. He says 16 guns were captured; also states that when Stonewall Jackson's forces reached Bennett's Ford, 10 or 12 miles from here, a part of McDowell's forces were on the south bank of the river, and they s creted themselves under cover of the woods. Jackson's forces passed them and attempted to ford the river, but while making this attempt Pope's troops pened a destructive fire, and at the same time McDowell's men threw themselves in the rear, thus bringing them between two fires. An officer says, of this portion of Jackson's forces he could not say how many were annihilated, that the river was red with rebel blood. The story is given for what it is worth : but it is believed in Fredericksburg. It is also believed that fighting is still going on. Our pickets in front of Fred-ericksburg have been doubled during the past two days, and every precaution against surprise has been taken

The Herald's Washington dispatches say that the condition of affairs in Maryland is not satisfactory to loyal men. It is well known that the rebels there are openly organized in every county of the State. There 18 reason to believe they are fully prepared with arms, and only wait an opportunity to raise the flag of rebelion. Military authorities are strongly urged to require the disarming immediately of all who will not take the | Kapantea.

Chicago, August 27 .- The situation of the Federa. the splendid wedding cakes are gratefully tendered.

army in Virginia is now as follows: The line of the Rappahannock is securely held, from Fredericksburg to Warrenton-distance 40 miles; this line is 56 miles from the Federal Capitol. The right wing, under Sigel, is easily reached by railroad; the left wing via Aquia Creek. The publication of the number of forces here is not allowed, but must be large.

McClellan's army, re-organizing near Alexandria, is within easy supporting distance of any part of the line. New levies are coming in rapidly and are being formed with the old. The fall campaign opens under auspices that inspire hope for the future.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.-From information received from various quarters, thousands of men have passed over into Virginia, principally from the eastern counties of Maryland. An entire company of cavalry left Montgomery county, on the Potomac, last week. Squads are constantly moving over.

The San Francisco Bulletin of the 27th inst. thus speaks of the condition of affairs in Virginia :

The expulsion of the newspaper correspondents from the army in Virginia prevents the news from reaching us in anything like the order of the occurrence of events. connections, distorted, increased or modified by every new oral narration, untrustworthy, and to be taken with unusual allowance for errors. Coming in the shape it does, we dare not rely upon the announcement of Sigel's brilliant success at one of the Rappah mnock crossings as indisputable history, though it is precisely what we would expect of the gallant General who taught us early in the war, and has often repeated the lesson since, how to construe a defeat into a glorious victory. The Government has tried both policies, and pretty faithfully-of allowing the most free publication of what occurs on the field of battle, and of preventing all reports through the usual and feasible channels of information. It does not appear to us that we have managed any better under the latter than under the former policy. The war is the people's war. They support it with their money, with their sympathies, with their lives. They are not children, to be frightened with evil tidings-they do not find defeat any more to their taste because it comes to them by degrees, wrapped in rumors and so disguis d that the chief actors would not recognize it. They are of age, are fit to govern themselves, reckon occasional reverses as to be expected, highly ap preciate truth and feel that to arrive at their conclu truth is essential. They do not believe that at this late day it has been discovered that honesty is not the best policy. The Government must have its secrets, the Department must have its own. If newspaper correspondents are troublesome within the lines and cannot be controlled, expel them. But when that is done it would seem but politic that the Department should communicate the official information that it has of movements completed, battles fought, or points lost or won, to the people, whose servants in peace or war the officers of Government are. If this were done the absence of newspaper correspondents would be easily tolerated. When, however, rumors and the bare leakage of news is all the people are permitted to hear, they are dispirited and fight in the dark. Hence we hope that, before long, Government will reconsider its policy, which it written as it is "made," There has been much desultory fighting in Virginia, within the past week, but none that gives an advantage to the enemy, or improves our position. The consolidation of our gathering forces into one grand army north of the Rappabannock, proceeds with all dispatch. When it will again take up the march for Richmond is still quite unknown. A dispatch from Washington to the New York Times this morning says : "The general feeling (in the Cabinet) over public affairs is decidedly more hopeful than for some time past. The President ter reading our despatches which tell of more reverses view, what seems to the rest of us a muddle is probably clear enough and full of promise.

REBEL FORCES.-The gentleman to whom we are indebted for the following statement of the Rebel forces has a certain source of information, which, though it What the numbers of the respective armies in Vircannot of course be made public, we believe may be implicitly relied on. It is not mere guess work, but a positive return from a rebel source not likely to be mistaken. It is perhaps exaggerated, but even if 100 men should be deducted from each regiment it would leave the rebel force about 230,000 men. The estimate for FRIDAY, SEPT. 19, 1862. There has been no change in quotations since our last. The Yankee sailed last Saturday with a heavy cargo of nearly all domestic produce, valued at $20,309 57, besides $17,754 50

The only foreign arrivals during the past week have been the clipper ship Morning Star, from San Francisco, and the schr. Toundo, from Puget Sound, with a cargo of lumber.

By the former we are in receipt of later dates from San Francisco and the East. Cotton goods, tobacco, surpentine, and other descriptions of merchandise which have been supplied from the Southern States, continue to rule at very high prices, with a prospect of still further advance.

From the San Francisco Evening Bulletin of 27th ult., we extract the following items of overland news:

NEW YORK, August 6. The Government prize sale of 1017 bbls Spirits Turpentine has just come off at auction. The entire parcel sold at $2 31 g gal-lon, cash. The English steamer off Cape Race, reports Turpentine 120 shillings; the prospect is good for $3 $7 gall here within

We note the arrival of 70 bbls Spirits Turpentine and som 1500 bbls Rosin from New Orleans. We know of no more of the way. The arrivals of Naval Stores from any source who ever for months to come must be very small; and if such be ? case with us, what must it be with you? The sales of Spirit Turpentine in New York embraced all in Government hand We quote common Rosin $14@$15; Tar $30@40; Pitch $15.020

"We have received the following dispatch from New York, dated August 26th : ' Brown Drills are active at 27c. nett, cash ; Candles (Knapp's brand), 20c. P B; Tobacco, $1 25 for medium grades Natural Leaf, pound lumps; Crushed Sugar, 1234c; Gold Coin, 1534, and Bars 1534 P cent. premium."

In our local trade we have nothing to report, business is very dull. Owing to the high prices at which merchandise of all descriptions is held, the retailers only buy such articles as they must have. They find it very hard to advance the prices of Cotton Goods or Tobacco to the native trade.

The new Sugar Refinery has been at work during the past few days, but we regret to say the result has not been as successful as was expected. Still it is to be hoped that, with a little more practice, and after the machinery gets in good working order, the result will be all that the enterprising proprietors could expect. We wish them every success, both for their own sake and for the sake of the planting interest, which will be much benefited by finding a market in Honolulu for Molasses.

The clipper ship Young Hector, under command of our well known townsman Capt, Chadwick, is hourly expected from San

By the Tounds, we are in receipt of Victoria dates to 23d ult Business is reported as dull :

Sugar-All the Sandwich Island Sugar in the market was in DTV the hands of one house, who were holding for an advance in price. Last sales reported are mats at 8@S%c ; kegs 9@10c COFFEE-19@20c.

The following statistics will show the comparative imports at Victoria, V. I., for the two half years of 1861 and '62: First half year, 1861. First half year, 1862. Portland ... 101,228 43,-45 Port Townsend New Zealand .

We congratulate ourselves on the increase of Hawaiian produce shipped to Victoria direct.

Our Commercial contemporary is kind enough inform our merchants that if they send gold to New York as remittance for Groceries, debts due there, they "lose three dollars on every hundred; by sending bills, if bought at par, fifteen dollars on each hundred!" There may possibly be—we do not believe it—merchants in Ho-nolulu so ignorant, so innocent of the ways of the world and of their own business in particular, as to rely upon the Advertiser's statesments in monetary matters, but one of those merchants has favored us with the following expose of money prospects in Honolulu for the "next three months," and it certainly does not imply either uncertainty or apprehension of a scarcity of coin or the recourse to "shinplasters of course."

"The export of specie to China, Japan and California, is not a new thing with the merchants of Honolulu, and passengers going East in every packet carry more or less of American coin. Mexican dollars, and other silver worth a premium in the above mentioned countries, have not for many years been in general circulation here, but have been laid by for exportation-and latterly the scarcity of Mexican dollars and the high premium which they have brought, has led to the substitution of American gold coin (the next best for the purpose) for remittance to China, and of five-franc pieces and American half dollars to Japan. "There has recently come into this market, from the English ships of war and other sources, a considerable amount in Mexican Bollars, which are quoted at an unusually high premium in San Francisco, owing to a temporary demand for, and scarcity there, of that kind of money; and that accounts for the large (for Honolulu) exports of coin by the Comet and Yankee, a large proportion of which coin was Mexican Dollars and other "uncurrent" silver; and the high rate of premium on gold and silver on the Atlantic side had very little, if anything, to do with

"The expenses on specie from this place to New York, are very nearly 5 % cent.; the insurance alone to San Francisco being Mally P cent.; and the rate of premium that may be realized is as uncertain as the result of battles. It fell from 23% P cent. to 15% P cent. within a few days, and may soon reach "No considerable amount of current coin (even $50,009) can be exported from this place, unless there is an import to offset it, without affecting business unfavorably; and we do not believe that our merchants will, for the sake of a small temporary gain, subject themselves to an inconvenience that may be more lasting. There will soon be plenty of Exchange in the warket, drawn by the U. S Consul, Captains of whalers, etc., which, with our exports of Sugar, Rice, etc., etc., will supply the remit-tances. And the rate for Exchange here will be influenced in a large degree by the rate for the same kind of paper in San Francisco The discount will undoubtedly be high enough to prevent the exportation of coin."
